President's Message

It's hard to believe that it's Nationals time of the year again. The Lone Star Chapter has been working hard to put this together for all of us to enjoy. Shows like this are a lot of work for the hosting chapter, and I hope lots of you will be there to enjoy it. I think Marty has arranged for 80°, about 10% humidity, and NO rain for the whole weekend down in the big "D." There's nothing like dreaming, but it sounds good.

This is the time of year to let us know your positive thoughts or ideas to help the FCA grow bigger and stronger. We want this to be the best club ever formed for the car enthusiast.

See you in Plano,
Jim Hatcher

Rare Falcon to be on display

The Carolinas Chapter is proud to announce that an original Ford Falcon Challenger, one of only three built, will be on display at the Carolinas Chapter Regional Falcon Meet to be held at the Holiday Inn Woodlawn, Charlotte, NC, on September 22 and 23, 1995.

In the early '60s, three Falcon Tudors were highly modified for the Ford Motor Company by the world-famous Holman and Moody Shops to compete at Sebring and other road race circuits. These high performance V8 Falcons were named Challenger I, II, and III.

Thanks to the efforts of Carolinas Chapter member Lee Holman, one of these legendary automobiles, Challenger I, will be available for display during this Regional Meet. This will be a one time chance to see a very rare Falcon prototype that's never before been displayed to the public since its recent restoration. Rare vintage film footage of these special Falcons will also be shown.

Don't let this rare opportunity pass you by. Make your plans now to attend!

Vice President's Message

Over the past couple of months there have been quite a few questions as to why the cost of the annual banquet meal is so high, and the quality and quantity, for the most part, marginal. A good question and one that should be addressed! Most comments go something like, "I can get a comparable meal at any restaurant for half the cost." While this may be true, a major part of the formula has been left out. For the sake of simplicity, I will use $20 as the cost of one banquet meal and five hours as the length of time to conclusion, in the following explanations.

The seat you occupied at the restaurant to eat that $10 meal will be used by a minimum of five more customers during a five-hour span. The restaurant has received $50 in revenue over five hours, per seat, to cover operational expenses. The hotel, on the other hand, has received only $20 per seat for the same five hours. You can easily see how the hotel seems to be on the losing end of this formula! Let's say the restaurant will seat 100 people and the hotel will seat 300 people. Over five hours, the restaurant will serve a minimum of 500 people. The hotel still has 300 "deadbeats" just sitting around having a good time but not buying anything. At $10 per meal the restaurant will have taken in $5,000 for the five-hour evening. The hotel now seems to be ahead of the game! At $20 per seat for five hours, the hotel has taken in revenue of $6,000. Looks good for the hotel now, doesn't it?

Since the members choose to make a direct comparison, we can apply the restaurant's operations to the hotel. The hotel is now charging $10 per average meal, serving 300 people per hour for five hours. The hotel now has possible revenues of $3,000 per hour or $15,000 per five-hour day. In this "apples to apples" example, the hotel has sacrificed a possible $9,000 in revenue for "Our" five-hour banquet. To just break even with the restaurant, the hotel would have to charge Us" $50 per meal. Looks to me like "We" are receiving $50 worth of goods and services for $20!

There are also expenses one may have never considered included in the banquet price — tax and gratuities, audio equipment, centerpieces and police security. Sum it all up and I think the $25 banquet is one heck of a deal! You just can't buy a meal and five hours of "down home" fellowship for $10! One more thing. That $10 meal will actually cost you $13.40 just about anywhere.

Love Ya All,
Marty

Chapter News

The Southeast Chapter held their May meeting at the home of Lynn and Sara Moon. After discussing club business, their June picnic plans were finalized. They will tour up to Dawsonville and Dalhousie to shop and eat. After the meeting everyone enjoyed the delicious food.

In May, the Mason Dixon Chapter met at Smith Ford. As has been in the case for the last several years, there was beautiful weather, some beautiful cars and above all, good fellowship. The chapter set up a display of 11 Falcons plus "Cousin Comet." Several guests and prospective members came by to visit and talk about Falcons (it seems like everyone has owned a Falcon at least once!). Our host Ollie Smith spent a large part of the day in the parts room helping members in need of that elusive part. While members were busy swapping Falcon yarns, Mrs. Smith was manning the grill for anyone who happened by. A heartfelt Thank You and a "Hats Off" to Mr. and Mrs. Smith and his staff for a great job of sponsoring this event.

It was a beautiful day for the spring picnic of the Keystone Chapter at the Rick and Lisa Adams' home. There was plenty of bar-b-que and other food for all. After the general meeting everyone drove to historic Millersburg for a ride on the only wooden paddel sternwheeler in the country.

Officers elected for 1995 to lead the Music City Chapter are Althea Fleeman, president; G.B. Netterville, secretary; Will Owen, associate secretary; Lynnie Whitefield, treasurer; Dale Holland, advisor/partsmaster.

The Suncoast Chapter held its Fifth Regional Show at the Best Western Diplomat Inn, Lakeland, FL, in late April. Five registered, but could not make it, which would have brought our total to 46. Sixty attended the awards banquet and enjoyed the food, door prizes — hundreds of them — and the raffle! The "Best of Show" and "Ladies' Choice" were won by Don Anderson of Georgia. In attendance were Falcons from the Carolinas, Georgia, Alabama, Ohio, and Florida. Financially, it was an outstanding success, with conviviality and good fellowship — the Best regional yet! Chapter secretary Robert Herrault reports that just prior to the show he left 52 "thank you" letters for sponsors in a folder on the hood of his car, and someone stole them. What a surprise - no cash! Two weeks later, chapter president Joe Stowe received a call from a man who found them, and returned the folder with letters intact!

The Founder's Chapter had a get-together in May at Tiree Park in Bella Vista, AR. Some members of the the Mid America and Sooner State Chapters joined them for a "rainy day" potluck. However, the rain didn't put a damper on the food, fun and fellowship had by all!

Plans for their upcoming regional meet in September was the main topic of discussion at the most recent meeting of the Carolinas Chapter. Some members also reported on their trip down to the Florida regional.

LOVE FOR VINTAGE VEHICLES DRIVES FALCON CLUB MEMBERS

Yvonne McKinney

When Larry and Melodie Rowan got married two years ago, he was also in love with a racy little number known for going topless.

But Melodie didn't mind — she shared his affection for the 1964 Falcon Futura convertible they call "Suzie."

In fact, the Citrus Heights couple were married in the back seat of the fully restored candy-apple red convertible in a special, automobile-oriented wedding.

"It was just like a church wedding, but down a dirt road," Melodie said of the outdoor ceremony at her sister's 5-acre ranch in Shingle Springs. Instead of walking down the aisle, the members of the wedding party approached the altar in convertibles.

Melodie said she even designed her wedding dress with "Suzie" in mind: "I made the train of white lace trimmed in red, large enough to extend over the back of the car. You could read the license plate through the train."

It's no surprise that the Rowans now head a club for people who have fond attachments for Ford Falcons, the vintage vehicles sold during the 1960s. Larry is president and Melodie vice president of the River City Chapter of the Falcon Club of America. Another Citrus Heights couple, Ron and Rosie Wilson, started the chapter in 1988 with only six members, but the group has grown to 158 family memberships. The members often promote the club by leaving the club's calling cards on the windshields of Falcons they spot in parking lots.

Members like the club because "it gets to be like a family affair and lets us raise a little hell without getting in any trouble," joked member Richard Stumpf of Fair Oaks.

Donna Copren of Foothill Farms, the chapter's past president, agreed that the club is family-oriented. "The youngest member is 15 1/2 and the oldest is in his late 70s. And people come from a wide spectrum of occupations ... The car gets us together."

Although most River city members live in the greater Sacramento area, the chapter has attracted members from as far away as Phoenix, Ariz.; Dallas, Texas; and Duluth, Minn. The chapter is one of more than 20 across the country, said Rosie, adding that she and Ron over the years also started a chapter in Phoenix and another in Virginia.

In addition to publishing a monthly newsletter, the chapter holds car-oriented activities each month, like this weekend's run to the Capay Valley Almond Festival. Club members also raise money for charities.

The group will sponsor its biggest event, the fifth annual Pacific Regional Meet, June 9-11. The Falcon car show and competition, which has drawn as many as 100 entries in the past, will take place at the Sheraton Hotel in Rancho Cordova.

Although the club has divisions for Falcons in various states of repair — "clunkers," "daily drivers" and "restored" — members encourage and help each other restore their Falcons whenever possible.

After retiring from a military career eight years ago, Ron Wilson found he was working full time fixing club members' Falcons or helping them find the increasingly rare parts. Finally, in December, he turned his preoccupation into an occupation, calling his new business Falcon Enterprises.

But what really draws the club members together is simply their love of these American-made vehicles produced from 1960 through 1970. Factories still turn out Falcons in Australia, but they are right-hand drive for British roads, Rosie said.

Many people associate Falcons with sedans, but club members are quick to say Falcons also included light trucks called Rancheros, Sprint and Futura convertibles, windowless sedan delivery wagons, station wagons and Econoline panel trucks. And some members maintain that Falcons had the first minivan in the Falcon Club Wagon.

When members are asked why Falcons are their favorite vehicles, the answers come fast and easily.

"They were put together as inexpensive family cars. They're still inexpensive enough you can restore them and they're nice to run around in when they're 30 years old," said Copren. She drives a fully restored 1963 Falcon in its original color, Rangoon red. "They're cute, very short and round," she adds.

For Stumpf, an architect who designs the club's special T-shirts, his 1963 glacier blue Falcon convertible represents simple times.

"I bought it off a used car lot and, during those years, it was my work car, my family car and my moving car," he said. "It's a kind of inner spirit between the person and the car. Mine has a lot of good memories for me. It always got me where I wanted to go and, if it did break down, I was always able to get help."

For Rosie Wilson, the 1964 Sprint convertible was an anniversary gift she bought for her husband, Ron, while he was away on military duty.

"It had four flat tires and I think chickens had been living in it," she said, laughing. "You could see the stars through its top."

Just this spring, Ron presented the fully restored Sprint to their son. But there was one stipulation — he can't ever sell it.
